

CONENT OF IIMC WEBSITE

ABOUT 5TH IICPAAS 2018

INVITATION LETTER

Dear Colleague,

Let me take this opportunity to thank all my fellow colleagues from 30+ countries who participated to hold the theme of integration up and made possible the earlier conferences grand success stories. I invite you all on behalf of the organizing committee for “The fifth international integrated conference on psychiatry and allied sciences (5th IICPAAS-2018)”. The congress will be organized in the most planned city of India, often known as the garden city, Chandigarh and will be the platform for one of the biggest congregations in the fields of psychiatry and clinical psychology.

There could have been no better time to witness the revolution in diverse fields proliferating in the branches of Psychiatry and clinical psychology. In spite of diversities in our fields, we are always unified in our spirit to help patients and to serve society at large as the professional mental health care takers. The proliferations in our individual sub-branches need to be acknowledged and shared with each other to align our fragmented forces for the greater cause of helping patients. Most of the conferences held today in the field of psychiatry and clinical psychology take a focussed approach to cover an in-depth topic. Unfortunately, this limits its utilization in other fields. On the contrary, we take a cohesive approach In our congresses to focus on applying a knowledge in as varied fields of mental health as possible. Therefore, our conferences are appealing opportunities in each and every sub-field of mental health sciences including pharmacopsychiatry, child psychiatry, geriatric psychiatry, neuropsychiatry as well as applied behavioural sciences, psychotherapies, psychiatric assessments and so on.

The presentations in our conferences reach a broad range of audience. A large number of inter-departmental collaborations are testimonials to it which, obviously, have resulted from our earlier conferences. Needless to mention that collaborations are the most powerful tools of sharing. We encourage collaborations, of course, by facilitating discussions during the lecture presentations. But we do not want you to be content with it; we want you to take this experience of collaboration one step further with the help of group tourist trips that provide a conducive casual medium of interaction.

I, therefore, welcome you all to participate in this unique, vibrant event and disseminate your work across the fields of mental health. Do not forget to have a tourist blast during the trip!

Best,

Dr. Ravi Prakash

M.D., D.P.M.

Practicing neuropsychiatrist

Department of psychiatry

APOLLO GROUP OF HOSPITALS RANCHI
 FOUNDER- GLOBAL MEDIDONIA GROUP
 ASIAN COORDINATOR- SEIKO SCIENCES; MONTREAL; CANADA

THE INTERNATIONAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE MEMBER DETAILS
(TENTATIVE LIST)

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Dr. Jorge Luis Pellegrini (M.D.) Current Director,         The Institute for Social and Psychosocial         University of La Punta         San Luis; Argentina Former Vice Governor, San Luis Province,         Argentina (2007-2011)         Former Director of Mental Health School         Hospital of San Luis         Former Head of Mental Health Program of         San Luis Awarded the title: "Geneva 2005" by         The World Psychiatric Association (WPA) for         Human Rights in Psychiatry | Dr. Fedor Jagla         MD., PhD. President of the Slovak Society for Higher Brain         Function,         Laboratory of Cognitive Neuroscience Former Director,         Institute of Normal and Pathological Physiology, Former executive member,         Slovak Academy of Sciences,         Slovakia |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Dr. Wafaa Farghaly         Prof. of Neurology,         Assiut University         Egypt                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Dr. Hamdy El Tallaway         Prof. of Neurology,         Assiut University         Egypt                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

Dr. Mina Chandra

MBBS(gold medallist), DNB(Psychiatry Gold medallist), MNAMS(Psychiatry), WHO Fellowship in Drug and Alcohol Medicine(New South Wales Institute of Psychiatry, Sydney, Australia),FCGP, PhD (Dementia- pursuing)

Chief Medical Officer (NFSG),

Dept of Psychiatry,

Post Graduate Institute of Medical Education & and Research (PGIMER) and Dr Ram Manohar Lohia Hospital(Formerly Willingdon Hospital),

New Delhi-110001,India

PREVIOUS INTEGRATED PSYCHIATRY CONFERENCES

THE INTERNATIONAL DELEGATION FROM OVER 30 COUNTRIES.....

CHEIF MINISTER OF JHARKHAND IN THE FIRST INTERNATIONAL INTEGRATED CONFERENCE...

THE SECOND FNBF
INTEGRATED CONFERENCE DELEGATION ON TOURST TRIP.....

TIONAL

BROAD TOPICS OF CONFERENCE

1. Neuropsychiatry
2. Psychopharmacology
3. Psychophysiology
4. Social psychiatry
5. Liaison psychiatry
6. Clinical Psychology
7. Psychosocial rehabilitation
8. Neuropsychiatric rehabilitation
9. Cognitive neurosciences
10. Behavioral neurosciences
11. Child psychiatry
- Ychiatry
13. Assessment in psychiatry and clinical psychology
14. Counselling and therapies in clinical psychology
15. Psychoeducation and genetic counselling

VENUE & CONTACT INFORMATION

The conference will be held at the heritage hotel of The fort Ramgarh, Chandigarh. The "Fort" is a 5 star hotel with a history of 360 years and is known for its regal hospitality and Indian historical culture.

For further information, please contact:

Mr. Om Prakash; Ph: +919999039573.

Emails: drravi2121@gmail.com

WHY ATTEND THE 5th IICPAAS

- Special facilities for our invited guests which include airport pickup, complimentary accommodation and meals as well as discounted tourist trips.
- Central theme of our conference is INTEGRATION, across different disciplines and different continents.
- Papers are of high quality and are selected especially to be implicated in multiple branches
- Lectures are the primary modes of presentation. We encourage the presenters to especially address the possible implications of their works in multiple branches thereby opening up many more possibilities than regular presentations.
- Discussions are the primary modes of interaction which are non-formal in nature. We encourage questions and contributions from all the possible angles towards the presenter which leads to a highly charged environment for collaboration.
- Effective management strategies for overcoming the time-limitations during discussions of the conference, providing everyone the opportunity to raise questions and discuss.
- Special collaborative sessions in the conference.
- Multi-centre collaborative projects post conference.
- Tourism packages at almost 1/3rd of the usual prices. Tourism constitutes an important part of our conference because it provides casual environments for interaction. Additionally, it provides a great view of our incredible country.

OUR LEGACY.....

7 international conferences

Total attendance of over 25 countries